

Procedure: Publically Accessible Information Certificate Holders

The confidence relationship that we establish with our clients is an important factor in our strategy. It is an integrant part of the concept of continuous improvement and the management of relationship with our clients, because they are the most important asset of an organization.

We therefore only publish the information we are obliged to publish according to the applicable accreditation standards.

If you wish information on the current status of certification of a company not mentioned in our “Certificate holders overview” listed on our website including suspensions or revocations of certificates, please send an email to info@isacert.com with the name and address of the company.

You will receive an email with the current status of the certificate of the requested company as soon as possible.
